

Kershaw Mechanical Services Welcome Luke Ashton as new Operations Director

Cambridge Based building services firm, Kershaw Mechanical Services are delighted to welcome Luke Ashton to the organisation.

Luke joins the business with over 25 years' experience in mechanical and electrical engineering, project and contract management. His previous roles included Pre-Construction Director and senior Account Management positions with two national contractors.

Working closely with Managing Director Gary Smith, and Sales and Estimating Director Ian Greenstock, Luke will be responsible for overseeing the company's operations and will call on his sound relationships with main contractors in order to look at future contract opportunities and encourage repeat business.

Gary Smith, Managing Director, Kershaw Mechanical Services said: "We are very pleased to have Luke join Kershaw Mechanical Services, he has a wealth of experience in the field and his extensive background in project and contract management will significantly strengthen our delivery capability."

Commenting on his appointment Ashton said: "I'm delighted to be joining Kershaw Mechanical Services. The company is at an exciting stage in its growth, and I'm looking forward to helping drive its on-going success."
